

1001TRACKLISTS

PRESENTS:

A STATE OF DANCE MUSIC 2018

2018 was loaded with highlights! With the return of Swedish House Mafia at Ultra Miami putting the festival season on a blazing path to the legendary closing parties in Ibiza, the electronic music scene never ceases to evolve and reinvent itself over and over. We wanted to take a look back and reflect on the trends and moments that defined 2018 – all based on the data collected on 1001Tracklists.

Over 36,000 tracklists were uploaded in 2018. That's 20% more than 2017 and almost 100 sets every day! But which ones were the most popular? What festivals and radio shows stood out from the rest? Whose productions dominated dance music and who were the breakthrough artists?

A State Of Dance Music 2018 is a report that aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the tracks and sets that defined 2018! Diving deeper into the numbers and sharing with never before seen insights, we compiled a series of charts and rankings that visualize achievements across all genres. As always, all of our rankings are completely objective and data-driven.

We hope that you make interesting discoveries, celebrate the achievements of your favorite artists and solidify even greater memories of the music and experiences from last year.

Our community is a tremendous group of individuals with a deep passion and open mind for electronic music and we can't wait to hear what all of the amazing artists, labels, DJs, festivals, radios and users have coming for us in 2019!
